Quran 51:47

وَالسَّمَاءَ بَنَيْنَاهَا بِأَيْدٍ وَإِنَّا لَمُوسِعُونَ

We have indeed built the heaven with Hands and We are ever-expanding it.

Quran 21:104

يَوْمَ نَطْوِي السَّمَاءَ كَطَيِّ السِّجِلِّ لِلْكُتُبِ كَمَا بَدَأْنَا أَوَّلَ خَلْقٍ نُعِيدُهُ وَعَدَّا عَلَيْهَا إِنَّا كُنَّا فاعِلِينَ

On a day when We will roll up the heaven the way a scribe rolls his scrolls; As We made the first creation, We repeat it. a binding promise. We indeed shall do.

Energy = Capacity to do work against a field (gravity/electric/magnetic/...).

All energy types are potential including kinetic energy which is stored within a moving object.

Force = Push or pull action on an object to accelerate it (change its velocity).

Work = Energy transferred to an object by applying force to displace it.

Photons move along helical paths and carry their energy within three components:

1. spin frequency = $h f$
2. circular motion = $\frac{1}{2} I \omega^2$
3. linear propagation = $\frac{1}{2} m v^2$

where:

wavelength / wave-diameter = the golden ratio (ϕ).

Information is the DNA for our Universe to control interactions between photons to form our material world. The distribution of prime and composite numbers within the natural numbers may decide which photons spiral counterclockwise and clockwise respectively.

Matter is a collection of bound photons forming a spherical particle. Photons circulate inside their particle is either clockwise or counterclockwise orbits. Particles with clockwise-only photons are called electrons; particles with counterclockwise-only photons are called protons; while particles with a mixture of clockwise and counterclockwise photons are called neutrons.

Mass is a measure of resistance to the passage of free photons through a particle which is dependent upon the number of photons that makes up the particle, and the distribution of these photons within it. This is similar to Inertia, or the resistance to change in motion which is dependent on the mass of an object and its mass distribution within its volume.

Electric Field is the continuous emission of photons from a particle in all directions. Emitted photons propagate along helical paths in clockwise or counterclockwise directions depending on their the original orbital direction inside the particle. Clockwise and counterclockwise helication is what we call positive and negative polarity.

Magnetic Field is the curvature of electric field due to the continuous spin of a particle around its axis which curls its emitted electric field along its horizontal sides but not at the top or bottom. This results in magnetism with the top and bottom of the particle being the north and south poles.

Neutron is a particle made up from clockwise and counterclockwise orbital photons and therefore rapidly emit alternating (+ve/-ve) electric fields and therefore in order to keep attracting and repelling the positive protons within the nucleus and prevents them from flying away. This is what is called the Strong Nuclear Force but in reality there is no need for any extra particles like gluons or force carriers.

Antimatter is the same as matter except their orbital circulation is reversed such that if matter electrons emit clockwise helical photons then antimatter electrons (i.e. positrons) emit counterclockwise helical photons, and the same applies to all other matter particles and their antimatter counterparts.

Dark Matter is the result of combining matter and antimatter. When matter and antimatter come near enough to each other, their helical fields "hug" each other and nothing escapes their union and therefore become invisible to the outside world. They do not annihilate and spontaneously come back magically from virtual photons. Married matter and antimatter is what called "dark matter" or "invisible matter".

Dark Energy is the ocean of free unbound photons that have not paired yet with other photons. This makes up 71% of the total Energy quanta in the Universe. Matter, antimatter and dark matter make up the remaining 29%.

This is the same prime-ratio as that of water to mass in the human body, or the ratio of water to land on the Earth surface, or the ratio of N₂ to O₂ in all layers of the atmosphere.

Furthermore, prime-ratios occur naturally in the human DNA (DeoxyriboNucleic Acid) bases: Adenine (A) = 29%, Guanine (G) = 23%, Cytosine (C) = 19%, and Thymine (T) = 29%.

Light is a dual stream of photons propagating along a double helix which is two co-helical paths with a 90° phase-shift that neutralizes their electric and magnetic properties to produce a non-charged electromagnetic wave. Light is both matter and energy at the same time. This is independent of the type of measurement being conducted and photon position and energy can be precisely calculated using its spin, circular and linear movements.

Space is a continuously created void as light pushes outwards away from its origin or the singularity point of the Big Bang.

Big Bang

As all the initial matter and antimatter in the Universe was created in the first Planck time unit (5.39×10^{-44} s) after the Big Bang, the aging effect a particle is experiencing due to the continuous loss of its inner photons is uniform over time for all particles and therefore we cannot detect different particles (of the same type) with different ages.

Big Crunch

However, once the photon decay of a particle reaches a critical point where there is not enough emitted photons to produce enough electric and magnetic fields to push space outwards, then the Universe will start rebounding back onto itself and collapses at an increasing speed ending in a Big Crunch in the last Planck time unit (5.39×10^{-44} s).

God is the source of all energy and through His spirit energy is constantly being supplied to produce electric and magnetic fields emanating from bound photons that form matter, antimatter, and dark matter, while dark energy is the unbound free photons that expand our Universe until God decides no more energy is to be supplied and starts contracting our Universe back into the singularity point and restarts the Big Bang / Big Crunch cycle.
